Dr. Tianjian Zhou is an Assistant Professor in the Department of Statistics at Colorado State University. His research interests include Bayesian methods with applications to clinical trial designs, statistical genomics, missing data, infectious diseases, and veterinary sciences. He earned his Ph.D. in statistics from the University of Texas at Austin in 2017. Prior to joining the faculty at CSU, he held postdoctoral appointments at the University of Chicago and NorthShore University HealthSystem.